Proven Quality

This Southern format tile is the result of a perfect earth/process combination, thanks to dedicated production lines. Always regular and easy to fix, the Romane Canal is appreciated both for its high quality standard and for its durability

Robustness, And Exclusive Design

Aesthetically, the double cornet of Romane Canal has a remarkable appeal, as it creates sunlight and shadow-effects which can be compared to those of short barrel tiles. It also provides an outstanding "light weight / high resistance" ratio, especially for such a strongly-curved format.

Building on over twenty years of experience and success, the Romane-Canal TBF offers the reliability of a world-standard modern tile, with easy-fixing capabilities and a wide range of terracotta accessories. The tile has a large and powerful curve pronounced by a very short visible gauge. It perfectly covers typical Mediterranean roofs as well as modern architectural projects, which will take advantage of Terreal's ability to withstand the test of time.

Romane Canal is considered today as the most successful terracotta tiles in the world.
